

Newsletter DWIH New York

January 2023

Dear reader,

We are starting into the year 2023 with a lot of energy and many plans for new projects and events. Before looking at our upcoming events, we invite you to read about our event highlight from last November - Science Diplomacy in International Organizations. Together with our co-organizers we prepared a document with stakeholder takeaways which will give you an insight into this topic which will also be part of the 2023 programming.

With kind regards

The DWIH New York Team

EVENT HIGHLIGHT

© DWIH New York

Takeaways from "Science Diplomacy in International Organizations"

In November, we brought together experts from leading research institutions, the United Nations, universities, and non-governmental organizations to consider the role of various actors in today's multilateralism and to unpack the relevance of science diplomacy for international organizations.

To the article and download

WHAT'S NEW?

DWIH Email Addresses

Those of you who have been in contact with us in the last few months surely have noticed: All DWIH New York email addresses have been switched to a new format (from @dwiH-newyork.org to @dwiH.org), so please note the new addresses and update your contacts accordingly. The old addresses will not be available after January 2023.

OUR UPCOMING EVENTS

German Networking Evening at the Transportation Research Board Meeting 2023

Jan. 9, 2023, in-person

DWIH New York @ International Science Forum

Mar. 1, 2023, in-person

DWIH New York @ AAAS Annual Meeting

Mar. 2-5, 2023, hybrid

NEWS FROM OUR SUPPORTERS

Scientists from the University of Cologne present at Kidney Week of the American Society of Nephrology

High fat – Low carb: A first clinical trial has shown that a ketogenic metabolism can have a positive effect on patients with cystic kidneys.

More information

© Paderborn University

Paderborn University Leads EU Research Project on Explainable Artificial Intelligence

AI has become an integral part of our lives. It has given rise to smart assistants that take on tasks that would otherwise take humans a great deal of time and. To do this, smart assistants require vast amounts of data. 'Knowledge graphs' are one of the preferred mechanisms for representing data here, because they can be understood by both humans and machines and ensure that information is processed logically.

More information

© UCI

Opening Ceremony of the HPI Research Center in Machine Learning and Data Science at the University of California

Already in January 2020, the fourth international branch of the HPI Research Schools was opened at the University of California, Irvine (UCI). But the official opening ceremony had to be postponed again and again due to the Covid-19 pandemic. On November 4, 2022, it could finally be made up for.

More information

© Center for Jewish History

Unmasking Antisemitism: A Panel Discussion in Conjunction with the Exhibition #Fakelmages at the United Nations

Join five historians, among them Dr. Uffa Jensen from our associate supporter TU Berlin, for this panel discussion on January 26 - online or in-person in New York.

More information and registration

CONNECT WITH US!

dwiH-newyork.org Unsubscribe Feedback Other subscriptions

This event and info mailing is provided by:

German Center for Research and Innovation (DWIH) New York
871 United Nations Plaza
New York, NY 10017, USA

legally represented by:
Dr. Kai Sicks,
Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst e.V.,
Kennedyallee 50, 53175 Bonn

Tel.: +1 212 339 8680

Email: info.newyork@dwiH.org
Online: www.dwiH-newyork.org

Organization Headquarters:

Bonn (Germany), registered at the local court Bonn, register court VR 2107

Editor:
DWIH New York

Disclaimer of liability:
We assume no liability for the content of third parties. For the content of linked pages, the operators of these pages are exclusively responsible.

Copyright © by DAAD e.V.

The content of this info and event mailing is protected by copyright. All rights reserved. The use of the text - even in extracts - and the pictures is not permitted without the prior written consent of the DAAD.

